In this election, Labour is fielding candidates of the highest calibre in every constituency. Dedication, commitment and honesty are the characteristics that we all share.

In government, Labour wants to make a difference. We want to deliver a programme of policies to enhance the quality of life for hard-working people.

First, Labour needs a strong election result. You can help make a difference.

In the run-up to the last General Election, Fianna Fáil spent well over €1m on advertising and campaign preparation. We didn't have the resources to combat this. During the actual campaign, FF spent €3.50 for every euro Labour invested. Spending power isn't everything, but it does make a difference and we need to be in a position to compete.

I am inviting you to make a special donation to the Labour Party every month for the next 12 months or to increase the donation you already make. By committing to our 'Make a Difference Campaign', you will help the Party fund an exciting, high-profile election campaign. Once-off donations to this fundraising campaign will also be gratefully accepted.

Thank you.
