Brexit: Implications and Response

Public Seminar

The reality of the United Kingdom's decision to leave the European Union has profound implications for Ireland and for the entire European project. As a passionately pro-European party, the Labour Party in Louth have organised a public meeting to discuss the implications of Brexit and what the appropriate response is for Louth, for Ireland and for the rest of Europe. We need to take stock of what Brexit means for Irish business, Irish workers and for the ideal of a social Europe where the advancement of human rights and equality is a priority.

We look forward to hearing the views of an illustrious panel of speakers and we invite you to take part in the discussion.
